DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sugiura (4,608,710).

Regarding claim 1, Sugiura shows mixer 236 for tuning an incoming signal in accordance with a local oscillation signal to produce an intermediate frequency signal (col. 5, lines 1-3), which meets the front end circuitry as claimed, and a first amplifier (67,82). It should be noted that the local oscillation signal is generated in accordance with a remote control signal transmitted from a signal transmitter 21, and the Sugiura is intended to receive either digital or analog television signal.

Regarding claim 3, see second conversion section 62 in Sugiura.

Regarding claim 4, see demodulator 89.

Regarding claim 5, high pass filters 68 and 83 prevent amplifiers 67 and 82 from short-circuiting the transmission line for frequencies outside of the intermediate frequency signal.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sugiura (4,608,710).

Regarding claim 2, Sugiura does not specify the circuitry for demodulating and digitizing the first intermediate frequency signal to generate a baseband digital television signal as claimed. The examiner takes Official Notice that using a circuitry for demodulating and digitizing an intermediate frequency signal is well known in the art. It can be found in all digital television receivers since it is the only known way to demodulate a digital television signal. Hence, in order to demodulate the digital television signal, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to include a demodulator and a digitizer into Sugiura to perform the well known functions as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 6-19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Slavik (3,575,661) shows a remote control tuning circuit.

Watanabe (4,205,269) shows a remote control variable attenuation device for an antenna amplifier.
